Our response to terror in Paris should go beyond social media

Matt Lindner

■ redeye@redyechicago.com
■ @mattlindner

The world can be a horrible, horrible place sometimes.

It's an inescapable reality that everyone is well aware of, and one that the vast majority of us actively repress in the deepest recesses of our minds until a person or group of people shine the brightest possible light on our worst nightmare's worst nightmare.

Friday night was one of those nights. In a series of carefully coordinated attacks, a group of terrorists slaughtered 129 people out enjoying a Friday night in Paris and injured more than 300 others who will have to live with the horror of that night for the rest of their lives.

Social media became downright unbearable as more reports and information came out about what had happened half a world away.

Facebook and Twitter have since been awash in gestures that, while noble, are ultimately empty. People changing their Facebook profile pictures so that they are filtered through the colors of the French flag. Tweeting hashtags like #PrayForParis just so they can feel like they're doing something.

How about this: Instead of changing your Facebook picture or composing a pithy tweet, you honor the victims of the Paris massacre and countless other atrocities by actually doing something that benefits society?

Donate a bar tab—anywhere between $50-$100—to charity. Get involved in your community. Do something for somebody else that benefits them and only them.

Do something that effects a positive change in the world.

Changing your Facebook profile picture so it has the colors of the French flag might make you feel good—but what does that do? Are you a better person for it? More importantly, is the world a better place because you did it?

Of course not. And this happens literally every single time we see the worst of humanity play itself out on the main stage of the world's theater. There's a ton of social media outrage and then ... nothing. No follow-up, nobody benefiting from the energy invested in expressing this outrage. Nothing.

The best way that you can possibly honor the victims of the Paris massacre, of any other atrocity, is to do your part to make the world a better place in addition to or instead of changing your Facebook profile picture.

The world is an awful, awful place sometimes, and we get plenty of reminders of that on an unfortunately far too regular basis. What we don't get is enough people standing up and improving the lives of those around them.

This is something that you can control and that is within your power. Do something.

Could This Get Rid Of Knee Pain Once And For All... Without Drugs, Shots, or Surgery?

Now, in Downtown Chicago, IL, one doctor is helping local residents with knee pain live more active, pain-free lives.

Living with knee pain can feel like a crippling experience.

Let's face it, your knees aren't as young as you used to be, and playing with the kids or grandkids isn't any easier either. Maybe your knee pain keeps you from walking short distances or playing golf like you used to.

Nothing's worse than feeling great mentally, but physically feeling held back from life because your knee hurts and the pain just won't go away!

My name is Dr. Paul Ruzila, owner of Chicago Chiropractic & Wellness. Since we opened eight years ago, we've seen hundreds of people with knee problems leave the office pain free.

Do You Have Any of the Following Conditions?

- Arthritis
- Knee pain
- Cartilage damage
- 'Bone-on-bone'
- Tendonitis
- Bursitis
- Crunching and popping sounds

Here's What Our Patients Say... "I was in denial about my knees as I winced on stairs, and put off going for a run. I didn't want to hear that I needed surgical intervention. I admit I was skeptical about how my knees could be improved with such non-invasive procedures. But I am happy to report that I was wrong. I went for my first run in about 18 months. NO PAIN! Thanks for relieving my knee pain!" - Jeff K.

If you're suffering from these conditions, a new breakthrough in medical technology may completely eliminate your pain and help restore normal function to your knees.

Finally, You Have An Option Other Than Drugs or Surgery

New research in a treatment called low level laser therapy, or cold laser, is having a profound effect on patients suffering with knee pain. Unlike the cutting type of laser seen in movies and used in medical procedures, the cold laser penetrates the surface of the skin with no heating effect or damage.

Cold laser therapy has been tested for 40 years, had over 2000 papers published on it, and been shown to aid in damaged tissue regeneration, decrease inflammation, relieve pain and boost the immune system. This means that there is a good chance cold laser therapy could be your knee pain solution, allowing you to live a more active lifestyle.

Professional athletes like Lance Armstrong and team members of the New England Patriots rely upon cold laser therapy to treat their sports-related injuries. These guys use the cold laser for one reason only...

It Promotes Rapid Healing Of The Injured Tissues.

Before the FDA would clear the cold laser for human use, they wanted to see proof that it worked. This led to two landmark studies.

The first study showed that patients who had cold laser therapy had 53% better improvement than those who had a placebo. The second study showed patients who used the laser therapy had less pain and more range of motion days after treatment. If the cold laser can help these patients, it can help you too.

Could This Non-Invasive, Natural Treatment Be The Answer To Your Knee Pain?

For 10 days only, I'm running a very special offer where you can find out if you are a candidate for cold laser therapy.

What does this offer include? Everything I normally do in my "Knee Pain Evaluation." Just call before December 6th, 2015 and here's what you'll get...

- An in-depth consultation about your problem where I will listen... really listen...to the details of your case.
- A complete neuromuscular examination.
- A full set of specialized x-rays to determine if arthritis is contributing to your pain.
- A thorough analysis of your exam and x-ray findings so we can start mapping out your plan to being pain free.
- You'll see everything first hand and find out if this amazing treatment will be your pain solution, like it has been for so many other patients.

Until December 6th, 2015 you can get everything I've listed here for only $19. The normal price for this type of evaluation including x-rays is $250, so you're saving a considerable amount by taking me up on this offer.

A new treatment is helping patients with knee pain live a happier, more active lifestyle.

Remember what it was like before you had knee problems. When you were pain free and could enjoy everything life had to offer. It can be that way again. Don't neglect your problem any longer – don't wait until it's too late.

Here's what to do now:

Due to the expected demand for this special offer, I urge you to call our office at once. The phone number is 312-212-1150.

Call today and we can get started with your talk, exam and x-rays as soon as there's an opening in the schedule. Our office is called Chicago Chiropractic & Wellness and you can find us in downtown Chicago. Tell the receptionist you'd like to come in for the Knee Evaluation before December 6th, 2015.

Sincerely,

Dr. Paul Ruzila, D.C.

P.S. Now you might be wondering...

"Is this safe? Are there any side effects or dangers to this?"

The FDA cleared the first cold laser in 2002. This was after their study found 76% improvement in patients with carpal tunnel syndrome. Their only warning – don't shine it in your eyes.

Of course at our office, the laser is never anywhere near your eyes and we'll give you a comfortable pair of goggles for safety.

Don't wait and let your knee problems get worse, disabling you for life. Take me up on my offer and call today 312-212-1150.

5 THINGS THE BEARS COULDN'T KEEP SECRET

By Chris Sosa | REDEYE

Ever since training camp, Bears coach John Fox has kept his cards close to the vest. Er, hoodie.

Media access to players and coaches has been limited at times, and outsiders can expect little insight on players' injuries.

Twitter was abuzz before Sunday's game at St. Louis because the Bears might not have been forthcoming about injuries to starters

Matt Forte, Eddie Royal and Pernell McPhee, who did not travel with the team.

Fantasy football implications notwithstanding, this practice leads to surprises on game day. Such as the Bears' 37-13 victory—on paper at least, this was an eyebrow-raising upset. What other secrets were the Bears keeping?

Marc Mariani's fear of touchbacks

The Bears' punt and kickoff returner might have shaken his coaches' confidence with Sunday's performance. Not only did he lose a fumble in the first half, but two of his kickoff returns ended up well short of the 20-yard line. Sometimes trying too hard is, well, trying too hard.

Nick Foles' terrible aim

Actually, this wasn't so much a secret; the Rams had one of the worst passing offenses in the NFL entering Sunday. What the Bears did differently was allow Rams receivers to roam the field untouched ... only for the St. Louis quarterback to miss them most of the time. All of which makes the Bears defense look awfully effective.

Marc Trestman was right

About one thing, at least: Throw the ball to running backs. Matt Forte racked up 102 receptions in 2014, a record for his position, under Trestman. Fox's Bears have found similar success using Forte understudy Jeremy Langford lately. The rookie had 70 yards receiving in last week's win over San Diego and seven catches for 109 yards and a touchdown Sunday. Oh yeah, he also had 20 carries for 73 yards and a score.

Zach Miller's a beast

Could it be the Bears have the best tight end tandem in the NFL? Everyone knows about Pro Bowler Martellus Bennett. Now they know about Zach Miller, too (and not the one in Seattle; no relation). One week after making a spectacular TD catch vs. the Chargers, Miller had two touchdown catches Sunday, including an 87-yarder in the first half during which he outraced virtually the entire St. Louis defense. His final stats: five catches for 107 yards and two scores ... enough to be trending on Twitter, folks.

Jimmy Clausen's mustache

It was only on TV for a second or two Sunday, but those with sharp eyes probably smiled when they saw it. One would assume the backup quarterback is rocking the 'stache to raise cancer awareness for No-Shave November. Either that or he's got a part in a Western coming up.

1	What should the Cubs offer their fans after raising ticket prices?	A World Series win. Or a bro-free section at Wrigley.	Bud Light always seems to help, but will bleacher fans ever notice a baseball game is going on at Wrigley?	A bathroom. Or, ya know, like a bunch of them. Because, seriously, Wrigley Field is awful.	A World Series would do.	Ten percent ticket price raise should mean at least 10 percent more playoff wins, yes?
2	Um, so what would you do with 600 Chris Denorfla bobbleheads?	Set them all up and get them to bob in time to "What is Love?"	Third-world countries loved the Cubs NLCS champion T-shirts. Let's send the bobbleheads too.	Work on my golf swing.	Add them to my shrine. I already have 347 of them. Hi, Chrillills.	Unspeakable things.
3	By the time the Bulls and Hawks get back from their annual November road trips ...	... the Bulls will have played some games, and the Hawks will have fought some battles.	... rest assured we'll have another D-Rose crisis and Captain Serious will have YOUR Blackhawks winning BIG.	... Jimmy Butler will have another new fish tank that he doesn't need whatsoever.	... Jimmy Butler's boombox fish will have learned how to Nae Nae.	... it will feel like December.
4	How long before you really start paying attention to college basketball?	About four months from now, when I get an email about the March Madness office pool.	Jan. 12, the day after Notre Dame wins the national championship! #TouchdownJesus	I've cared from Day 1. I could watch Denzel Valentine hoop forever.	The day my brackets are due. I got time.	When it feels like April.
5	How can you tell World Cup qualifiers are in full swing?	We're talking about soccer again.	Bars in Wicker Park are packed at 8 a.m. #HelloBeardos	People are pretending they care about soccer again!	People keep insisting I say "foo-tball."	Irish pubs in River North have a few early-morning drunken hooligan fights.

FEAR FROM AFAR

IN CHICAGO, TRAVELING PARISIANS STRUGGLE TO COPE WITH TERROR ATTACK IN THEIR CITY

By Marwa Eltagouri and Genevieve Bookwalter | CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Parisians Marion Robin and Lisa Colin sat in a Gino's East restaurant Friday evening, eagerly planning their weekend in Chicago, a celebration of their long-awaited reunion. In an instant, those plans were upended.

Little mattered besides the bits of news that popped up on their cellphones or the minutes that passed as they waited for responses from family.

"We were freaking out," Colin said. "You can't do anything in France right now, but being so far from home is worse."

Colin and Robin, both 20, are foreign exchange students studying at different American universities and picked this past weekend to reunite in Chicago. Anxious for answers, they stopped by the French consulate on Michigan Avenue on Saturday morning, but the consulate was closed.

On Friday, coordinated gun and suicide bombing attacks across Paris left dozens dead and hundreds injured. The Islamic State claimed responsibility for the mayhem, which was the deadliest on French soil since World War II.

In Paris, traveling Chicagoans were launched into a surreal atmosphere, ordered Saturday not to leave the city and confined to their apartments and hotels. And in Chicago, Parisians felt just as isolated, dreading their return to a city so quiet with mourning that, as one said, "you could hear a pen drop on the street."

Hundreds gathered Saturday night in front of the French consulate on Michigan Avenue to light candles, leave flowers and otherwise pay their respects.

"The place where the shooting happened is where I used to live," said Sabine Ye, 34, a French citizen who lives in Lakeview. "That's where the majority of my friends are."

A Chicago resident since 2010, Ye said she's still waiting to hear from some of those

A TIMELINE OF FRIDAY NIGHT'S ATTACKS IN PARIS

By Sarah Parvini | LOS ANGELES TIMES

Three teams of terrorists carrying AK-47 assault rifles and wearing explosive vests with identical detonators appeared to have coordinated the attacks that killed at least 129 people and injured more than 300 across a swath of central Paris, French prosecutor Francois Molins said Saturday. Eighty-nine people were killed and many others injured when three armed men took hostages and opened fire into the crowd during a rock concert at the Bataclan concert hall. The hostages were among the crowd of concertgoers standing in front of the band, Molins said. Nineteen people were gunned down at a sidewalk cafe, and more were killed in at least five more attacks in a vibrant area not far from the Place de la Bastille.

9:20 P.M.

Two people died in the first explosion, in Saint Denis near the Stade de France where a France-Germany soccer game was underway. A passerby was killed in the attack, and an assailant's body was found at the scene with a suicide vest that had been filled with metal shrapnel.

9:25 P.M.

Fifteen people were killed at Le Carillon bar and Le Petit Cambodge restaurant in Rue Alibert in Paris' 10th district. Witnesses told authorities they saw men armed with Kalashnikovs open fire from a black SEAT car.

A single flower sits with the flags of Chicago and France outside the French Consulate in Chicago.

friends. She held a candle as she stood with her husband, her face stoic.

Parisian Marianne Tbo, 49, said she is living in Chicago for a few months. Most French Chicagoans are away from their families and came out Saturday night to support each other, she said, holding a small French flag.

"We don't know what to do," Tbo said. "Pray for people. Whatever religion, it doesn't matter really."

As soon as news of the attacks broke, Chicagoans flocked to social media to show solidarity and check on friends and family in France.

A 26-year-old Parisian who asked not to be identified said she followed the events from Chicago through Facebook, distressed as she watched the body count rise minute after minute. She compared the targeted neighborhoods to Chicago's Wicker Park—areas young people could go to dance, drink and meet other people.

She wasn't nervous about flying back to Paris on Sunday afternoon as planned after spending six months working for a nonprofit in Chicago. But she's worried about what she'll find upon arriving:

"Empty streets in mourning," she said in an email. "A chilling angst about how to keep on living 'a normal life.'"

Chicagoans used the hashtag #Stranded inUS to open their homes to Parisians stuck in Chicago and unable to get flights back to France. John Ratnaswamy, of Highland Park, was among dozens of people who turned to Twitter to offer Parisians a free stay.

"It seemed like the right thing to do because we have the room, and my wife and I speak French, although not fluently," he said in an online message.

In Paris, Amy Radlinski, of Geneva, a 20-year-old student from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, was at a bar less than 2 miles from the attacks late Friday night with her classmates. The students stayed until 1 a.m. and, with no public transportation or cabs available, were forced to walk for nearly an hour to Radlinski's apartment.

Radlinski said she spent all of Saturday in her apartment.

"I think it's because the attacks happened in so many locations that no one really feels comfortable going out to different parts of the city," she said.

Colin, the Parisian exchange student spending the weekend in Chicago, said her family described a similar, "apocalyptic" atmosphere—one of closed shops, constant police presence and hovering helicopters.

She's most worried for France's refugees, she said, afraid they could suffer retaliation.

"There's going to be some political repercussion," she said. "It's a crazy time to be in Europe."

FRANCE LAUNCHES AIR STRIKES ON ISLAMIC STATE HQ, HUNTS ATTACKER

Associated Press

France launched "massive" air strikes on the Islamic State group's de facto capital in Syria on Sunday night, destroying a jihadi training camp and a munitions dump in the city of Raqqa, where Iraqi intelligence officials say the attacks on Paris were planned.

Twelve aircraft including 10 fighter jets dropped a total of 20 bombs in the biggest air strikes since France extended its bombing campaign against the extremist group to Syria in September, a Defense Ministry statement said. The jets launched from sites in Jordan and the Persian Gulf, in coordination with U.S. forces.

Meanwhile, as police announced seven arrests and hunted for more members of the sleeper cell that carried out the Paris attacks that killed 129 people, French officials revealed to The Associated Press that several key suspects had been stopped and released by police after the attack.

The arrest warrant for Salah Abdeslam, a 26-year-old born in Brussels, calls him very dangerous and warns people not to intervene if they see him.

Yet police already had him in their grasp early Saturday, when they stopped a car carrying three men near the Belgian border. Three French police officials and a top French security official confirmed that officers let Abdeslam go after checking his ID. They spoke on condition of anonymity, lacking authorization to publicly disclose such details.

Tantalizing clues about the extent of the plot have emerged from Baghdad, where senior Iraqi officials told the AP that France and other countries had been warned Thursday of an imminent attack. The Iraqi dispatch, which was obtained by the AP, provided no details on when or where the attack would take place. However, Iraqi intelligence officials told the AP that they also warned France about specific details

9:30 P.M.

A second explosion went off outside the Stade de France. Authorities discovered the body of another suicide bomber and "many weapons." Molins said the attackers used similar explosives.

9:32 P.M.

Five people died and eight were injured and in "serious condition" after a shooting outside La Bonne Biere bar in the 11th district.

9:36 P.M.

Nineteen people were killed at La Belle Equipe Cafe on Rue de Charonne in the 11th district. A black SEAT car was spotted at the scene. Molins said "many were seriously wounded" and there were multiple types of weapons.

9:40 P.M.

One person was seriously injured when a suicide bomber killed himself inside a restaurant on Boulevard Voltaire in the 11th district. Several others were "slightly" wounded, Molins said.

9:40 P.M.

Three armed men opened fire and took hostages during a concert by the Eagles of Death Metal at the Bataclan concert hall, also in the 11th district.

9:53 P.M.

A third explosion rang out near the Stade de France. The body of a third suicide bomber was found at the scene.

“PARIS IS THE CITY OF LIGHT. AND HERE IN NEW YORK CITY, WE KNOW THAT LIGHT WILL NEVER GO OUT. OUR LOVE AND SUPPORT IS WITH EVERYONE THERE TONIGHT. WE STAND WITH YOU.”

—“Saturday Night Live’s” Cecily Strong, who then repeated the message in French at the beginning of Saturday’s episode.

“... THE WAY WE CHANGE THE WORLD IS THAT WE CHANGE THE WAY WE TREAT ONE ANOTHER ON A DAILY BASIS IN THE SIMPLEST WAYS. WE MUST START TREATING EVERY HUMAN BEING WITH DIGNITY AND RESPECT, AND THIS IS THE ONLY THING THAT WILL CHANGE THE WORLD. ... ONLY LOVE WILL CHANGE THE WORLD.”

—Madonna, in an emotional speech at a show Saturday in Stockholm, according to ew.com. She followed the speech with an acoustic performance of “Like a Prayer.”

“I THINK MUSIC IS VERY IMPORTANT. I THINK U2 HAS A ROLE TO PLAY, AND I CAN’T WAIT TILL WE GET BACK TO PARIS AND PLAY. AND THAT’S WHAT WE’RE FEELING FROM THE MESSAGES WE’RE GETTING FROM MUSIC FANS, IS THESE PEOPLE WILL NOT SET OUR AGENDA.”

—Bono, to Irish radio station RTE 2fm on Saturday. U2 was set to play shows in Paris on Saturday and Sunday, but both were canceled. According to online.com, the band laid flowers Saturday at a memorial near the Bataclan concert hall, where dozens were killed Friday.

OFFERING HOPE

On Saturday, a man sat at a grand piano adorned with a peace sign and played John Lennon’s “Imagine” outside the Bataclan theater. Davide Martello told the Guardian newspaper that he had been at a pub in Germany when the attacks began, then traveled with his piano to play in Paris. “I just knew I had to do something,” he said. “I wanted to be there to try and comfort, and offer a sign of hope.” The Guardian reported that the 34-year-old is known for playing his piano in conflict zones and had performed at the site of the Charlie Hebdo attacks in France earlier this year.

OTHER SHOWS CANCELED AFTER ATTACKS

Following Friday’s attacks in Paris, several musicians canceled tours or shows, or changed their plans, according to etonline.com.

- » Foo Fighters canceled the rest of their European tour, which included shows in Paris, Italy and Spain. “This is crazy and it sucks. Our thoughts and prayers are with everyone who was hurt or who lost a loved one,” the band said in a post on its Facebook page.
- » Coldplay was set to play a livestreamed concert in Los Angeles but postponed it. Instead, they played a short set for ticketholders, opening with a moment of silence for the people of Paris and an acoustic version of John Lennon’s “Imagine.”
- » Canadian rock band Simple Plan canceled a private show scheduled for Monday in Paris.
